Got Art?
The Helena Public Art Committee is conducting a Survey

What do you admire about Helena's public art?

Find a link at www.helenapublicarts.com
OR pick up a copy at the Holter Museum, Lewis & Clark Library, or City-County Building
The City of Helena Public Art Committee (HPAC), an advisory committee to the City Commission, was established in 1998 to promote public art works in the Helena community, and to inform residents and visitors about the many pieces available to the public for their enjoyment. The HPAC sponsors Chalk Up Helena! the family-friendly sidewalk chalk art festival on Helena’s Downtown Walking Mall in July.

Helena is often identified as “The Best Small Art Town.” Therefore, the HPAC is interested in the following:

- Exploring your interest and support for public art in Helena, seeking your help to identify what kinds of public art you enjoy and where you think more public art should be located.
- Identifying the economic benefit that the community gains from the various arts and cultural activities.
- Developing a public art plan to identify opportunities and overall sustainable community priorities to promote economic development and livability through Helena’s cultural scene.

This short survey will take less than 10 minutes. Your responses to this survey will provide valuable information about Helena’s public art. Thank you for participating in our survey.

1. According to Helena’s public art website, www.helenapublicarts.com, the HPAC has defined a "work of art" as any original and unique creation in visual media that is accepted by the City of Helena Public Art Committee. Public art usually can be seen without going into a building.
